

Mercer Caverns Tours

Things have changed since Walter J. Mercer discovered the cave in 1885. Today visitors enjoy the convenience of walkways and electric lighting. Cave tours last about 45 minutes. The cavern temperature is 55 degrees year-round. The tour covers about a quarter mile on walkways and stairs. There are a total of 440 steps, 208 down into the caverns and 232 up out of the caverns. Visitors descend a total of 160 vertical feet below the entrance. Flash photography is permitted on tours. For safety reasons no tripods or video cameras are allowed on the tour.

Mercer Caverns Mining Company

In addition to cave tours, you can experience what it was like to mine for minerals in the 1800s at the Mercer Caverns Mining Company. Several kinds of "mining rough" may be purchased so guests may experience firsthand what it is like to mine for minerals in a mining sluice. As you wash away the mining rough you will discover a variety of mineral or fossil treasures in each bag.

Finding the Caverns

Mercer Caverns is located at 1665 Sheep Ranch Road, one mile from the town of Murphys, CA, which is just off Highway 4 in the Mother Lode country. Coming from Highway 4 eastbound, turn left into the Murphys Business District, which is Main Street. In half a mile look for a sign indicating the right turn from Main Street on to Sheep Ranch Road. There is a sign for the cave, and the Murphys Old Timers Museum is on the same corner.
